

GREENGAGED

Greengaged, the sustainability hub at the London Design Festival, is currently working on its 2009 programme, hosted by the Design Council. It has been developed and organised by Sophie Thomas at Thomas Matthews, Sarah Johnson at Redesign, and Anne Chick from the Sustainable Design Research Centre at Kingston University. The Greengaged website and blog was relaunched at the end of April, helped by design writer Kate Andrews, and included podcasts of some of last year's highlights. Greengaged is looking to franchise around the world with plans for the event to visit the United Nations Climate Change Conference in Copenhagen in December (DW 1 April).

